Coolidge Explains His Message to McLean

NO REFERENCE TO OIL PROBE HE EXPLAINS

Had to Do With Political Situation and Work of Thanks

BULLETIN
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 6.—President Coolidge's telegram to E. B. McLean started another oil debate today in the senate.

Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi declared it was incumbent on the president to give a statement to the country "to remove the suspicion that attached to the Prescott telegram he sent to McLean."

"It is not enough that Bascom Slomp give out a statement," Senator Harrison added, "the president should make a statement. I hope some real explanation can be made by the president."

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 6.—Two telegrams sent by President Coolidge to E. B. McLean in Florida were read today in the record of the oil committee.

Immediately afterward the president issued a statement saying that the matters referred to in the messages related to questions of local government in the District of Columbia.

The first message, sent on Jan. 12 said: "Prescott is away. Advise Slomp with whom I shall confer."

(Signed) Calvin Coolidge.

Slomp was then in Palm Beach. Members of the committee said they did not know who "Prescott" was.

A short time before the committee had heard read a telegram from Chief Doorkeeper McKenna at the White House advising McLean on Dec. 22 that Slomp was leaving that night for the south.

Read Lenroot Message
Then an exchange of messages was read showing that on Jan. 10, A. B. Fall at Palm Beach wired Chairman Lenroot of the oil committee asking if "Walsh has authority to subpoena me to testify" and got a response saying he had not.

Senator Walsh, chief prosecutor of the oil inquiry, had gone to Florida to question McLean but committee records show that he was empowered to summon such witnesses as he might desire.

Gaston B. Means, a widely known investigator once employed by the department of justice, wired to McLean's secretary early in January that he was on his way to Palm Beach.

President Coolidge telegraphed McLean at Palm Beach again on Feb. 12 according to the committee's telegrams.

President Thanks Publisher
"Thank you for your message," the second Coolidge telegram read, "you have always been most considerate. Mrs. Coolidge joins me in sending kindest regards to Mrs. McLean."

The first Coolidge telegram was sent after McLean had testified that the $100,000 loan he previously had said was made to Fall on a note, was in reality in the form of checks which were returned to him uncashed.

The second was dated two days before McLean was summoned here by the committee to explain.

"Please see Senator Jim and find out if there is disposition to make mutual friends make long journey," said a message sent from Palm Beach Jan. 24 by W. F. Wiley to Ira E. Bennett.

Wiley is manager of the Cincinnati Enquirer and Bennett is an editorial writer on the Washington Post, both McLean publications.

Coolidge Explains Both
President Coolidge issued this statement:

"The telegram related to the district commission. Samuel J. Prescott is the republican city chairman and the president desired to confer with him regarding district matters."

President Coolidge later made this statement relative to the second telegram sent E. B. McLean under date of Feb. 12:

"The telegram sent to Mr. McLean on Feb. 12 was in regard to a message from Mr. McLean congratulating the president on his Lincoln birthday address in New York."

"The telegrams exchanged were similar to others received and sent out in that connection. It amounted simply to an exchange of amenities."

CONSIDERING MEN TO FILL DAUGHERTY PLACE IN CABINET

Attorney General Will Quit Soon, Capital Experts Believe.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 6.—Developments in the investigations of the oil and other scandals have again brought up sharply the question of Attorney General Daugherty's immediate retirement.

Selection of a successor for him is under advisement at the White House and at least three men have been approached indirectly to ascertain if they would accept such an appointment if offered.

Mr. Daugherty is en route from Miami, Florida, where his wife is ill. He left last night, although he had been there less than a week after having convinced President Coolidge apparently, that he should be permitted to retain his post until after the senate's investigation.

No Statements Made.
White House officials have refused to comment except to say that no demand has been made for his resignation and that no one has been selected to take his place, nor did the Attorney General make any statement at Miami.

The new situation follows details which have arisen since the sudden departure of Mr. Daugherty for Miami by way of Chicago, where he appeared before the special grand jury that indicted C. E. Forbes and J. W. Thompson in connection with Veterans' Bureau transactions.

SAFETY-FIRST COUNCIL WILL BE ORGANIZED

All Citizens Urged to Join in Movement to Promote Safety

Citizens interested in the Safety First movement met last evening in the Mayor's office on the city hall, at which time arrangements were made for an organization meeting to be held next Thursday evening at 7:30 in the council chambers. A committee or organization was selected at last evening's session and is composed of the following: Mayor F. D. Palmer, Chairman; Charles E. Miller, Com. of Public Health and Safety; W. E. Wood, C. G. Shepherd, Geo. F. Prescott and J. D. Van Bibber. Mayor Palmer and his committee are urging all who are interested in this movement to attend the meeting next Thursday evening.

The plan is to form an organization of citizens sufficiently interested in the welfare and safety of the community, with officers and committees to help in the enforcement of laws governing the safety of the general public, and to wage an educational campaign on these subjects. It is intended to have a large general Safety committee to consist of the entire membership, not already named in other specific committees, and it is the intention and desire that each and every member of this committee shall at all times be on the constant alert for law violators, careless drivers, speeders, short cut corner dodgers, crossing hazards and acts of automobile drivers or pedestrians who are observed taking risk, and to report the fact, with name of party guilty of neglect, to any member of the Traffic, Speed and Parking committee, whose duty it will be to personally call upon, or write the offender, soliciting his or her co-operation in the Safety First movement, or at their discretion pass the matter over to the License and Legal Committee who shall take such action as is necessary to bring about the desired results for the safety of the public.

The Traffic, Speed and Parking Committee is to be composed of five members, as is also the License and Legal committee.

THURSDAY Call of Men to Decision

Read Mt. 16:21-28. Text: 16:24-25. Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. For whosoever would save his life shall lose it, and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake shall find it.

"A man must gird himself tightly and move out boldly after Christ. He must take up his life resolutely and put it decisively into Christ's enterprise, to be and to do all that an unfolding sense of duty may reveal. Then all the mysterious facts with which he is linked contribute to the strengthening of his life."

MEDITATION: From his own experience during the period of his temptation Jesus found that there is but one way to true living, and that is to put the insistent demands of self aside and live with firm determination for the welfare of others, not counting the cost whatever it may be.

PERSONAL QUESTION: What is the Cross I bear?
PRAYER: Eternal Christ, we seek thy face, and in spirit and truth desire to follow thee. We come in penitence that in our contrite hearts thou mayest find thy dwelling place. Inspire us by thy holy presence, thou great Creator, Amen.

The doctor's car settled in the mud on the Chicago road south of Dixon and Garfield Topper, who resides near the scene, worked for more than two hours in extracting the doctor's car from the mud and then refused to be compensated for his efforts. The physician insisted and could pay but two dollars, he said.

FIRE DESTROYS FARM HOME ON LINCOLN HI-WAY

Mrs. Martha Gleim's Residence Burned; She Was Absent.

The farm residence of Mrs. Martha Gleim east of Dixon on the Lincoln Highway was totally destroyed by fire Wednesday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock. The furniture was practically all removed from the building with the exception of that in the kitchen and was saved. The loss, which is estimated at about $4,000 is partially covered with insurance.

Mrs. Gleim had left her home to visit a daughter only a short time before the fire was discovered. A member of the Rochelle fire department who was driving to Dixon on the Highway, discovered the blaze. He went to the house and not receiving a reply to his knock, broke a window and gained entrance. The entire basement was full of smoke and flames, he said and this was spreading rapidly to other parts of the residence.

Neighbors and tourists passing on the Highway assisted in removing the furniture and household effects. Chemicals were sent out from the Dixon fire department and were used effectively in saving other buildings from destruction.

Murray Delegation to Visit Towns in County Tomorrow on Schedule

William E. Murray of Rock Falls, secretary to Congressman McKenzie, whom he aspires to succeed in Congress, will visit Lee county towns on the Lincoln Highway tomorrow, accompanied by a big delegation of supporters. It had been originally planned to swing into the southern part of the county, but because of the bad roads it has been determined to limit tomorrow's trip to the Highway, and to make the other towns later. Women's Republican Club; Mrs. Hattie Ebersole, well known northern Illinois clubwoman; Mrs. Murray and others.

Control of Broadcasting Object of Trial

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, March 6.—A legal fight for control of radio broadcasting is forecast as a result of the suit by the American Telephone & Telegraph Company for a permanent injunction restraining Station WHN, operated here by Marcus Loew and George Schubel, from broadcasting.

The request is based on the contention that most broadcasting stations are using apparatus that infringes on patent rights of the A. T. & T., which operates station WAEF.

Should the suit be successful, similar actions probably will be started against other broadcasting stations, except about 40 which have made arrangements with the A. T. & T.

Burton Considered as Denby's Successor

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 6.—Theodore E. Burton, present member of the House and former senator from Ohio, is one of those now being considered by President Coolidge for appointment as Secretary of the Navy.

White House officials refused today to discuss the possibility of his appointment, but it was confirmed that he was on a list of a half dozen now before the President.

The Ohio representative is being urged as one fitted by long experience to take over the navy post. All indications pointed to the selection of a successor to Edwin Denby this week.

PALMYRA MEN BURGLARS OF GRANDY STORE

Taken Yesterday by Lee Co. Officers, One Admits Theft

BULLETIN.
(Telegraph Special Service.)
Oregon, March 6.—Clarence Miller and Wardio Wallace of Lee county were held to the grand jury under bonds of $500 each when arraigned here this morning for breaking and burglarizing the Weyant general store at Grand Detour. Wallace was held in Miller's information, in which he charged that Wallace accompanied him on the trip from a soft drink parlor in Dixon. The pair were brought to the Oregon jail last evening by Sheriff Sherd Dodson and Deputy George Banning, after they had been taken in custody by Sheriff E. C. Risley at Dixon.

In his charges that Wallace assisted him in the robbery, by accompanying him to Grand Detour and waiting in the car, Miller also charged that Wallace had a few nights previous suggested a hold-up. Both were in a Dixon soft drink parlor, Miller accuses, when Wallace suggested that they entice an elderly man into an alley and relieve him of a large roll of bills which he had displayed.

Acting upon information secured by Chief of Police VanBibber, Sheriff Elliott C. Risley and several deputies went to the Miller farm in Palmyra yesterday afternoon and, armed with a search warrant, recovered considerable property which has been identified as some of that taken from the Weyant general store in Grand Detour early last week. The officers placed under arrest Clarence Miller, aged about 17, who has admitted to the theft and implicated Wardio Wallace, also of Palmyra. Both of the young men were taken to Oregon last night by Sheriff Dodson and Deputy George Banning.

Loot Was Uncovered.
When the sheriff and his deputies arrived at the Miller farm, young Miller, who about a year ago was released from the St. Charles School for Boys, following a year's term for alleged forgery, denied any knowledge of the robbery. In a tool house where he was working the deputies found clothing and other articles in burlap sacks, concealed from view, which were identified and as they were brought from their hiding places, Miller admitted the theft. He told the officers that he with Wallace left a soft drink parlor in his car and drove to Grand Detour with a view of robbing the Weyant general store. Wallace, he said, remained in the car throughout the time. He told of breaking the glass in a window with his elbow and after crawling in, opened the door and ransacked the stock. In his car, he had a list of the articles which were purported to have been taken.

The report furnished the officers which led to the uncovering of the loot, indicated that Miller had suggested that the robbery be carried out in broad daylight, but that his accomplices refused to accompany him on this trip. It was then decided to break and enter the store during the night, and according to Miller, he and Wallace left here about 10 o'clock, drove to Grand Detour, robbed the store and then returned home.

ADDRESSES BOARD

WILLIAM E. MURRAY

Secretary to Congressman McKenzie, and himself a candidate to succeed Mr. McKenzie in Congress, who addressed the Lee County Board of Supervisors this morning, explaining the details of the McKenzie act for federal aid in the construction of a Lincoln Memorial bridge across the Mississippi between Fulton and Clinton. Mr. Murray had much to do with drafting the bill, which has been enacted, and his explanation was welcomed by the Supervisors.

FEDERAL AID IN HIGHWAY BRIDGE WAS EXPLAINED

Supervisors Get First Hand Information on McKenzie Bill.

William E. Murray of Rock Falls, secretary to Congressman McKenzie and candidate for congressman from this district, addressed the Lee County Board of Supervisors this morning with reference to the proposed Federal Aid Bridge, to be constructed between the termination of the Lincoln Highway in Illinois and the termination of the Lincoln Highway in Iowa. Mr. Murray said that Congressman McKenzie had been able to secure a decision from the Bureau of Public Roads, whereby, if the States of Iowa and the States of Illinois would contribute one-fourth each toward the construction of a bridge across the Mississippi river, the Federal government would pay the balance out of the money allotted for the construction of highways.

Mr. Murray further stated that this was not merely a local question, but that it was a part of the National development of our highways. It developed that Governor Kendall of Iowa has agreed to do all in his power to aid in this project, and had assured Cong. Hull of the second district of Iowa that his state would do all that was possible to expedite this project.

Supervisor Bauer suggested that the Lee county board could act more intelligently if the bridge is located where the bridge is located would first endorse the measure, and no official action was taken.

Coroner S. J. Whetston of Steward asked the board for an order to turn over to the county treasurer the sum of $40 which he held, his request being granted.

SURVEYOR TO BE EVICTED; BOARD SAYS

County Dads Refuse Asst. Caretaker for Building

Action to eject another man from holding an office in the court house building was taken this morning by the county board of supervisors and the matter, which was instigated by Supervisor Harry O. Wheeler, of Dixon, met with the unanimous approval of the board. In presenting the matter to the open board shortly before adjournment at noon today, the supervisor from Dixon said:

"There is a room on the third floor of the court house adjoining the law library which is being held by a self-made assistant county surveyor. This surveyor has the key to the room and we cannot get possession of it. I would like to place this matter before the board and ask, how are you going to get him out?"

Supervisor Bauer of Hamilton offered a motion which was seconded by Supervisor Henry Knetsch, in which the building committee was instructed to proceed to eject the office holder. The Dixon supervisor explained to the board that Lester Street of this city had held the office for some months and that repeated efforts on the part of the committee to have him vacate and turn over the key had had no effect. The motion of Supervisor Bauer was unanimously carried.

No Asst. Caretaker
The board this morning voted 12 to 9 against the hiring of an assistant caretaker at the court house. Supervisor Wheeler, chairman of the county building committee, presented the matter to the board at Wednesday's afternoon session and the matter was tabled for the purpose of allowing the members of the board to investigate conditions. Sheriff Elliott C. Risley told the board that the job was more than a one-man job during the entire year, with snow to clean from the walks in the winter and the lawn to care for in the summer. He added that he had hired work done this winter in the cleaning of walks and a few days ago, the city flusher was used in washing the walks around the court house.

County Clerk Fred G. Dimick informed the board that the court house was in a filthy condition and added that the employees in the offices were breathing dust, disease germs and dirt. Books and county records, he said, had not been dusted and were in bad condition in this respect. The matter was tabled this morning when the building committee presented a resolution in which they asked to have the janitor's salary set at $110 with an assistant at $90 per month. A roll call vote resulted in the defeat of the resolution by a vote of 12 to 9.

matters coming under the Attorney General's jurisdiction, and it is said, involved individuals close to Mr. Daugherty. In addition persons connected with the Department of Justice have been brought into the picture of inquiry, and with the special investigation of his administration expected to start next week, the question has been raised whether he could give adequate attention to his official duties during its progress.

Three Are Considered.
Men who have been asked if they would accept appointment include former Senator Kenyon of Iowa, now Judge of the Eighth United States Circuit Court of Appeals, F. D. Dietrich, federal judge of Ohio, and C. D. Wilbur, chief justice of the supreme court of California.

It has not been intimated Mr. Daugherty was involved in any of the charges not relating to the Veterans' Bureau which were included in the grand jury report but some of this evidence related to alleged improper liquor withdrawals and pardon activities, both of which are within jurisdiction of the Department of Justice. A grand jury is expected to be convened next week in compliance with the orders of President Coolidge that all of the incidental charges mentioned in the Chicago report be promptly investigated. These include allegations that two members of congress have accepted money improperly, that one or more officials have utilized official information for purposes of speculation, and that files from a government department were entrusted to a person not entitled to them.

Illinois Farm Agents Support Federal Bill

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, March 6.—Informed that the adoption of the bill to create an agriculture export corporation will make possible an increase in the price of Illinois wheat from $1 to $1.40 a bushel, seventy-five presidents of county farm bureaus in Illinois followed the lead of S. T. Thompson of Quincy, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association today and wired endorsement of the McNary-Haugen bill to all Illinois congressmen.

They also wired opposition to the proposed amendments to the packers and stockyards administration board, designed, Mr. Thompson said, to cripple the cooperative livestock commission companies, such as the three in Illinois, at Chicago, Peoria and East St. Louis and that at Indianapolis. "The time is ripe," Mr. Thompson told the farm bureau presidents, "to make our desires known to congress. The Teapot Dome affair has sent up such a stench that congressmen are anxious to put themselves out to get right with the farmer."

Newer Form of Oil Ends Rheumatic Pains

Of 5,783 Cases Less Than 3 in 100 Are Reported to Have Failed to Get Relief.

From Germany, which gave to the world those two great pain relievers, Aspirin for headache pain and Novocain for painless dentistry, comes news of another great discovery of a newer form of oil which is bringing quick relief from the pain of rheumatism in a remarkable percentage of cases where all other methods had failed.

These German scientists found that rheumatism is an enormous number of cases is due to an internal infection such as poisonous pus in a dead tooth or an infected tonsil, or in the intestines. These poisons being absorbed by the blood are carried to the joints and muscles, where they set up inflammation and intense pain. Sometimes these infections cause rheumatism, in other cases neuritis, neuralgia or gout.

Once the cause of the trouble was known, German scientists worked to perfect an oil intended to penetrate directly to the tortured nerves and inflamed tissue of the joints and muscles themselves and neutralize these poisons in much the same way that barbiturate of soda or magnesium neutralizes an acid stomach. Often even in the most severe and stubborn cases, inflammation, swelling and pain quickly disappear with the very first application.

Nothing has been the results from this remarkable oil that the American distributors have authorized local druggists to lend you a bottle for trial with his personal written guarantee. You simply deposit the price with him as evidence of good faith. Then if you do not get immediate relief, simply return the bottle and every penny of your deposit will be instantly refunded. Ask for the oil by name—Ruhler Oil. Sold by all good druggists in this city, such as Public Drug & Book Co.; Rowland's Pharmacy; Sterling's Pharmacy; Thomas Sullivan.

Note: The written guarantee of relief or money-back on Ruhler Oil is especially designated for those people who have doctors for years without results. We do not want to keep one penny of your money unless Ruhler Oil gives you relief from pain.—Adv.

With the Big Leaguers in the Training Camps

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago—There is a remarkable scarcity of sore arms and tightened muscles after three days of work for the Chicago Americans at Winter Haven, a banded finger for McWeeny and Ardenson's tonillitis totaling the casualties.

A wild slugging rampage of youngsters and veterans at the Catalina camp of the Chicago Nationals was stopped by Nick Dumovich who worked smoothly. The veteran Grover Alexander is giving Dumovich special coaching.

St. Louis—The St. Louis Nationals were put through their first strenuous session with a stiff morning practice and a game with the Bradenton high school team in the afternoon.

In Mobile the St. Louis Americans saw the mighty arm of Urban Shocker at work.

New York—"Pep" Young signed a two year contract at Saratoga at figures estimated at from $15,000 to $18,000 a year although the amount was not divulged.

"Irish" Meusel is now the only unsigned Giant and it is understood he will sign soon.

Sam Jones' contract arrived at Yankee headquarters at New Orleans. Bob Muesel sent word he would report March 15.

Manager Robinson of the Brooklyn squad at Clear Water, Florida, is worried about Jacques Fournier, first baseman, who writes business would detain him at Mobile, Alabama, for ten days.

Detroit—Young pitchers with the Detroit Americans are receiving much attention from Manager Cobb, according to reports from Augusta, Ga.

Cincinnati—Mrs. Patrick Moran, wife of the manager of the Cincinnati Nationals, left for Orlando, Fla., to be at the bedside of her husband who is seriously ill. Moran has been failing in health all winter and on Monday broke down. Doctors were confident he would recuperate but he passed a very bad night and was removed to a hospital.

Washington—A long established custom has been broken by baseball's youngest manager, Stanley Harris, who has announced that the Washington ball club will not have an American League umpire to officiate over exhibition games during the training season.

Boston—With only four regulars about the Braves are putting on finishing touches before holding the first practice games at the St. Petersburg, Florida, training camp.

Men Trimmed Boys on Alley Last Eve

The boys of the Presbyterian church have long wished to take a fall out of the men on the bowling alleys so a match was arranged and last evening the two teams rolled R. out, and though the boys won two out of three games, they lost the match by 13 pins and should now be satisfied that the men are superior bowlers. But they will doubtless wish to make it two out of three matches so that they can have another chance to show what they can do.

HEART INTEREST ABOUNDS IN PLAY BEING SHOWN

"Emblems of Love" is One of Finest of Its Nature.

There is less of the traditional screen play and more of the real life drama in "Emblems of Love" which opened a two-day engagement at the Dixon theater yesterday, than has been seen in a picture in this city for many months.

"Emblems of Love" is a picture long to be remembered for its thoroughly human characters. It is a story of everyday folks, and their problems—problems every ordinary mortal will recognize. The story is one of such an intimate nature, that in viewing the picture one is apt to feel, subconsciously at least, that he is looking right into the homes of typical humble people.

"Emblems of Love" is a heart-interesting drama. It is a rich pathos, but has sufficient comedy relief to sprinkle smiles among its heart throbs.

"Ma" Jones' early environment had bred in her a horror of an indigent old age, and she scrupled to add a mite to the overtime earnings of her aging husband. As the evening of life approaches, the couple have accumulated Five Thousand Dollars.

Bill has sought to direct the thoughts of his fellow mechanics at the mill toward provision for old age, but these live complacently in the present, fail to believe calamity might overtake them. However, when Bill joins a fraternal order, two of his companions join with them; a third, Heine Schmidt is obdurate. And he is the first to be overtaken by disaster for which he is totally unprepared.

Bill entrusts his savings to his son for investment and is crushed by a double sorrow when this son mysteriously disappears without having acquainted his father with the nature of the investment. Then Bill's daughter elopes with a scapegrace who, after Bill is forced to quit work, strips him of his last earthly possession. It is then that Bill and "Ma," about to have even hope forsake them, are apprised of a haven for indigent old members and their wives established by his fraternal order. In this haven the old couple find solace, and this is turned to happiness when their long-lost son is restored and they learn the great story of self-sacrifice which accounts for his disappearance. Mary O'Brien is with Buddy as his wife. It was her love and faith which led to Buddy's restoration. The old couple learn, too, that Buddy's investment had grown to Ten Thousand Dollars but they elect to remain where they are, as they are.

Many of the scenes were taken in the two magnificent institutions maintained by one of the great fraternal organizations of this country.

THE PASSING OF THE OLD LEADER—

From Tennyson's "Ode on the Death" of the Duke of Wellington) Lo! the leader in these glorious wars Now to glorious burial slowly borne, Followed by the brave of other lands, He, on whom from both her open hands

Lavish Honor showered all her stars, And affluent Fortune emptied all her horn.

Yes, let all good things await Him who cares not to be great. But as he leaves or serves the state Not once or twice in our rough island-story

The path of duty was the way to glory. He that walks it, only thirsting For the right, and learns to deaden Love of self, before his journey closes, He shall find the stubborn thistle bursting

Into glossy purples, which cut-ripened All voluptuous garden roses. Not once or twice in our fair island-story

The path of duty was the way to glory. He, that even following her commands, On with toil of heart and knees and hands,

Through the long gorge to the far light has won His path upward and prevailed, Shall find the tottering crags of Duty scaled

Are close upon the shining table-lands To which our God himself is moon and sun.

Such was he; his work is done. But while the races of mankind endure, And when the long-illuminated cities flame,

Let his great example stand Colossal, seen of every land, And keep the soldier firm, the statesman pure

Till in all lands and through all human story The path of duty be the way to glory, And let the land whose hearth is saved From shame

For many and many an age proclaim At civic revel and pomp and game, And when the long-illuminated cities flame,

Their ever-loyal from leader's fame, With honor, honor, honor, honor, to him, Eternal honor to his name.

Prairieville Social Circle Meeting

The members of the Prairieville Social Circle held an exceptionally delightful meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. Charles Reid, north of Prairieville.

There were twenty-six members, six guests and eight children present.

At noon one of the most appetizing of dinners was served, with the hostess serving chicken as her share. Potted plants and flowers brightened the rooms.

After the dinner the meeting of the Circle was held and some business was disposed of after the devotions.

During the business meeting it was decided by the members to assist the tubercular patients at the sanitarium at Oak Park by contributing some eggs, which they would take to the next meeting. The next meeting is to be held two weeks from yesterday, March 19th, with Mrs. W. E. Tillman, at the store at Prairieville, and the members will please take the eggs there which they desire to contribute, and they will be shipped from there to the sufferers at the sanitarium.

The meeting yesterday was a pleasant and profitable one in every way.

On Tuesday evening, March 4th, the members of the Ideal club entertained their husbands and families with an elegant three-course banquet, at the home of Miss Elizabeth Hiller. This banquet has come to be an annual affair.

Miss Hiller resides with Mrs. Owen Clymer, her sister, and the home was beautifully decorated with the club colors, green and white. Green candles adorned the tables on which the banquet was served.

After the bounteous repast the guests enjoyed an evening of delightful games and stunts. In the "nail and hammer" contest, the ladies proved that they could hit the nail on the head with every stroke. While the men in their stunts proved that they could mend their own socks, when the occasion demanded.

During the evening a letter was read from an out-of-town member, Mrs. L. W. Newcomer, expressing regret that she and Mr. Newcomer were unable to be present and extending a most cordial invitation for the club and their families to spend an evening and night with them at their hotel in Moline, Ill.

A delightful surprise during the evening was the arrival of Miss Carrie Smith now of Bloomington, Ill., who came just as the members were planning to send a telegram expressing regret that she was unable to attend. The entire evening was one of great pleasure to all and the success of this annual event was largely due to the efforts of the committee, Mesdames Beam, Miller and Newton.

Mrs. Jas. Phalen Happily Surprised
Relatives and friends to the number of twenty-five planned and carried out a delightful surprise Tuesday evening for Mrs. James Phalen, 906 Woodlawn avenue. The event was held in honor of the fiftieth birthday anniversary of Mrs. Phalen and she was completely surprised.

CLOCHE DEPARTURES

Here are two hats, fresh from Paris, showing that it is possible to escape the cloche, which is nearly always with us, if we want to. The turban, above, keeps a very close neat line about the face by means of its tightly wrapped folds. But in the back a wide bow gives a decidedly novel effect. The hat, below, is of plaid silk with a rolling, upturned brim, wider than we have been wearing, and the big bow is placed at the side at a youthful angle.

read from an out-of-town member, Mrs. L. W. Newcomer, expressing regret that she and Mr. Newcomer were unable to be present and extending a most cordial invitation for the club and their families to spend an evening and night with them at their hotel in Moline, Ill.

A delightful surprise during the evening was the arrival of Miss Carrie Smith now of Bloomington, Ill., who came just as the members were planning to send a telegram expressing regret that she was unable to attend. The entire evening was one of great pleasure to all and the success of this annual event was largely due to the efforts of the committee, Mesdames Beam, Miller and Newton.

Mrs. Jas. Phalen Happily Surprised

One evening, after finishing work at the mill, Hannah, with Martha, her friend, went to the clerk of the parish church to give notice of her intended marriage.

The clerk proceeded to fill up the usual forms and ask the necessary questions, which were timely but correct, answered, until the clerk asked, "Are you a spinster?"

"No, sir, I'm a weaver," replied Hannah. "Ain't I, Martha?"—Tit-Bits (London).

Her Pupils Gave Happy Party for Mrs. Cunningham.

One of the members of the class, Miss Ruth Powell invited Mrs. Cunningham to her home for supper and when she arrived she found that the shorthand class had taken possession of the house and had come with well filled baskets. A very delicious scramble supper was served and Mrs. Cunningham was presented with a set of silver teaspoons. After the supper the party finished the evening by attending the picture show.

COST OF RUNNING A CHEAP AUTO.

It costs five and a third cents a mile to own and operate a popular-priced auto. This is shown by an extensive checkup of three of the cheaper makes of cars, according to the Wall Street Journal.

Five and a third cents a mile is the average figure. Some cost more, others less. Depends a lot on the driver and the care devoted to the car.

How does the record of your own bus tally with this overage? In making comparisons, you'll note that to drive even a cheap car costs about twice as much as a trip by railroad.
Street cars give much cheaper service. But the auto driver has the satisfaction of ownership, privacy and the pleasure of going wherever he desires instead of following steel tracks.

The average family drives a car 5000 miles a year or about 14 miles a day, the investigators decided. It's estimated that $266 a year ($5.11 a week) operates the family bus and provides money for its replacement by a new car at the end of seven years.

The investigators figured gasoline at 20 cents a gallon, 20 miles to a gallon, or $50 a year.

Oil at 20 cents a quart, 250 miles to a quart,
$4 a year.

Tires $60 a set for 15,000 miles, or $20 a year.

Repairs, striking a seven-year average, $50
a year.

Insurance against fire and theft, $15 a year.
Depreciation is estimated as being one-seventh of the original cost, each year, or $55.

Garage rent is entered at $72 a year. This is the largest single item of costs of operation and ownership.

The "cost per mile" is dropping each year, the Wall Street Journal claims. It quotes auto engineers as predicting that before long all cheap cars will be stored "in the open" and a large part of the item of garage rent eliminated.

Five dollars or so a week for running a car doesn't seem much in these days when a dollar is worth only 60 cents in buying power compared with what it bought before the war. But if any power compared with what it bought before the war. But if any one had predicted such an expenditure 20 years or more ago, the average person would have gazed reflectively in the direction of the poorhouse.

McADOO A SLOW QUITTER.

Mr. McAdoo's friends are not doing him much good by their attempted explanation of his employment by Doheny and his quitting of that employment. Now they have another big McAdoo fee to explain—the $200,000 he is said to have received from the Republic Iron and Steel company for his influence with the internal revenue department which saved the company a couple of million dollars in taxes. His friends continue to claim that his employment by Doheny was legitimate, which no one could deny but for some of the surrounding circumstances. Mr. McAdoo kept the employment from the public, which tends to cast suspicion upon it. His quitting the employment is defended upon the ground that he quit when it became apparent that Doheny had become involved in questionable transactions. But McAdoo did not resign as soon as Doheny told about the payment of $100,- 000 to Secretary Fall. McAdoo did not resign until Doheny disclosed the fact that he also had been in the Doheny employ. The natural inference is that McAdoo would have been willing to continue in the employment if that relationship had not come to public attention. Even if McAdoo's employment by Doheny could be satisfactorily explained, he would still be under the cloud of taking employment at enormous fees from other concerns having dealings with the government under the Wilson administration.

LET'S HAVE ANOTHER PROBE.

Isn't it about time for another congressional probe? Probing seems to be the chief business of congress just now. Why not probe the forty members of congress who formed a combine by which each of the forty would introduce a bill to amend the Volstead law so as to make beverages of 2.75 percent alcoholic content legal? It would be interesting to know how the Association Opposed to Prohibition, or some other association of wets "influenced" these congressmen to make this flank attack.

COURAGE.

News pictures show Miss Bird Millman startling New Yorkers by a toe dance on a tight wire 26 stories above the street. Few of us would walk on that wire for a million dollars. All of us would try it if the wire were only a foot above ground—and we wouldn't fall.

Courage and fear are largely matters of self-confidence. The very confident man frequently gets the laugh, but the odds are in his favor in the battle for success. Most people underestimate their power and naturally don't surpass their estimates of themselves.

LESS BOOZE.

The average Englishman is drinking only a third as much whisky, gin and brandy as 30 years ago. Beer drinking similarly has fallen off nearly a fourth.

High prices of booze and restrictions on drinking hours are the causes of all this.
Also it reflects the slow but steady progress toward world moderation in drinking, if not ultimate prohibition.

York, but his first name isn't Drink.

POLITICS TICKING AWAY.

Smith or Jones May Be the Men.

Governor Smith of New York is rather reticent about his campaign to become president. This shows Coolidge has no monopoly on silence.

Smith will stand a good chance if all the Smiths vote for him. But his opponents could offset this by nominating somebody named Jones.

SPORTS.

It is only a short time now before the annual race between weeds and vegetables begins. One gardener tells us he expects to reverse the usual order this spring. He is going to plant weeds and see if the vegetables will come up and crowd them out.

SPRING NEWS.

"Winter lingers in the lap of spring," wrote the poet. Well, a London girl of 17 married a man of 61 and this is just the opposite to what the poet was writing about.

THEATER NOTES.

Most men will enjoy learning a female impersonator in a New York show sprained his ankle.

SOCIETY.

The mosquitoes are looking forward to better times just as soon as the dresses are shortened. Last summer many mosquitoes were restricted to arms and news and these were very poor pickings.

BEDTIME STORY.

A Boston man claimed in court he had eight boarders sleeping in one bed. This may have been rather crowded for them, but it probably seemed just right to the bedbugs.

MUSIC NOTES.

They found a New York singer bound and gagged in her apartment. The cops say they have no clew, but the case looks simple to us.
Find some neighbor who likes to sleep at night.

FASHIONS.

Flesh-colored hose will be worn this spring.
This is good news. The holes won't show.

POLITICS.

A dark horse may have a bright future.

EDITORIAL.

A St. Louis drug clerk asked for a day off.
He got it, went to the country and robbed a farmer. When he gets out of jail he should go to Wall Street where he can rob farmers without taking a day off or getting caught either.

FINANCES.

Two Lexington (Ky.) brothers have met for the first time in 27 years. And we'll bet one said, "That's my tie you got on," and the other said, "Well you quit wearing my shirts."

TEAPOT NEWS.

American aviator went up seven miles, but even at this great height saw nothing of the good reputations which recently belonged to several oil men and government officials.

BIRTHS.

Now Syracuse (N. Y.) twins claim to be the oldest in the world. The man is 91 so this makes his twin sister about 60.

OF THE T.WINS
by Olive Roberts Barton

THE TWINS MEET A FIDDLER

"What's this thing?" said Nancy curiously

Along came a biddler on his way to the fair. A jolly fiddler was he, but oh, he was as big as a lighthouse,
and his fiddle was as big as a boat.

He played as he went and his big bow scraped the strings at a furious rate. The sun was hot and the road of Beantalk Land was dusty, and the jolly fiddler got very thirsty.

"I'll just leave my good fiddle under a tree," he said, "and hunt a spring of nice, clear water. Then I can eat my slice of bread and cheese and take a short nap. I'll play all the better for it when I reach the fair."

So he laid down his fiddle, and went off into the woods to hunt a spring, but no sooner had he gone than along came Nancy and Nick as happy as two little birds just out of a cage.

"What's this thing?" said Nancy curiously, as she spied the fiddle.

The two of them walked all around it and finally crawled up on top and looked down the hole.

"I know," declared Nick. "It's a fiddle, and one of the Beantalk Giants has left it here. With that he touched one of the strings. Zing!

It went with a singing noise, but although it was only a little noise for a giant, it was a great big noise for Nancy and Nick.

"Let's play a tune!" cried Nancy.
"You pull one string and I'll pull another and see if we can't make some music."

So they began, and although it wasn't much music there was a great deal of sound.

Suddenly the biddler, who was at that minute taking a drink out of a leaf cup, held up his head and listen-

THE MOTORIST'S

DILEMMA

BY BERTON BRILEY

It was a weary Motorist
Who stoppeth one of three;
"I have a grisly tale to tell,
I prithee, list to me:

"Four days ago I drove to town
And on the street did stop.
'Ye cannot park that wagon here,
Drive on!' so spake the Cop.

"And then I sought another space
Where there seemed room to spare;
Drive on, drive on!' Ye Copper quoth,
'Ye cannot park it there.'

"I needed shelter and a shave;
Ye night was growing dark.
But though to park my boat I'd crave,
No one would let me park.

"I tried ye narrow streets and wide
For many hours I'd ridden,
But ever I would find a sign THAT HERE PARKING IS FORBIDDEN."

"I even tried ye graveyard once,
When sudden did appear
A ghost from out a vault who said,
'Ye cannot park in here.'

"Four weary days I've driven 'round
Within this benzine ark.
My strength is getting very low,
For everywhere in town I go
They will not let me park."

A Traffic Cop approached the group.
His aspect bleak and dread,
'Ye're blockin' traffic on the street,
'Ye can't park here,' he said.

Then off ye dock the Motorist Propelled his dusty Flivver.
They fished him out, all blue and cold
With all his bones a-shiver;
And then the Cop arrested him
For parking in the river!

GETTING UP NIGHTS

Tell you there's danger ahead. A healthy bladder does not act at night.

J. H. Dorton, W. Graham, Va., says: "I had to get up seven or eight times at night for forty years. I thought it was my age. After taking Lithiated Buchu a short time, I am alright."
Lithiated Buchu cleanses the bladder as Epsom
Salt does the bowels, thereby relieving irritation, driving out foreign matter and neutralizing excessive acids. These are the causes of unnatural action of the bladder at night. Lithi-ated Buchu (Keller Formula) is not a cheap medicine. The tablets cost 2 cents each. Sold at all leading drug stores or Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio.

LETTER FROM SALLY ATHER-TON TO BEATRICE GRIM
SHAW, CONTINUED

When John Alden Prescott (rather a distinguished name, isn't it, Bee?) read that poem called "The Law of Love" he sat for a long time saying nothing.

I went on polishing up and re-typing some copy as though my curiosity were not almost unbearable.
At last he turned and asked abruptly, "Why did you give me that poem?"

"I thought it very interesting if true, and I really wanted to get a man's reaction on it," John Prescott frowned at this.

I thought he was going to tell me
I was mixing psychology with business. Instead he said, "What do you think about it?"

"To tell you the truth," I answered,
"I do not think that the faculty of having many loves is exclusively masculine."

"Don't you?" he asked in surprise.
—"Oh yes, I know that has been man's theory for many aeons. While proclaiming the fact that a man can love many times Sainte-Beuve, who was considered the great lover of his time, said: 'A woman cannot love twice. Her nature is too tender to endure a second time the terrific emotional earthquake.' This is what one would expect from the French poet and egoist, and I have come to believe that it is what all men think.

"Your masculine pride will not allow you for one moment to believe that the many women who have loved you could again feel the tender passion for any other man."

"For a woman who pretends to be

FIGHTING COMMON COLDS

The Public Health Service announces that 35 per cent of the people in the United States are subject to the common bad colds (there are no good ones) and is making a special investigation to determine the cause and possible cure.

February and March seem to be the favorite months for colds and nasal troubles. But many people always easily catch cold.

What we term the common cold is due to an infection of the upper air-passages of the nose. These germs, with the family name of micrococci-cataralis, are always watching for a chance to catch you off your guard and take up their abiding place in your septum.

For this class of colds beware of the nose-blowing, sneezing individual who blows and coughs right into your face, and expectorates anywhere without any regard of consequences.

Another cause is undue exposure, especially of the parts of the body where warm protection is necessary.
Insufficient covering at night is another cause.

Wet garments should always be removed as soon as possible and a brisk rubbing or massage indulged in to bring back the healthy glow to the skin. Avoid wet feet, a frequent cause of colds.

To guard against cold from exposure is a life process of common sense, habits and exercise. Steer clear of the common cold by your determined efforts to make your body strongly resistant to its effects. Try and avoid dry warm rooms with dust conditions that attack the nasal passages and inflame the mucous membranes.

Colds may not have any direct relation to the ventilating of your bedroom, but becoming used to pure air during the sleeping period is a great help in strong bodily resistance to the effects of cold germs or ex-posure.

AFRAID SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Operation Advised, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made It Unnecessary

Glasgow, Kentucky.—"I was run-down, nervous, with no appetite. My side had given me trouble for five or six years. At times it was all I could do to live, and the doctor said I couldn't live but a short time longer without an operation. That was two years ago. My sister-in-law recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She had never used it herself, but she said one of her neighbors suffered just like I did, and it cured her. After I had taken four bottles the pain left my side. I had a fine appetite to eat anything that was put before me, and I began to do all my work and my washing, something I hadn't done for years. I am a dress-maker, and this last fall I began suffering with my side again, so I began taking the Vegetable Compound again. I am on my fourth bottle, which makes eight in all I have taken. I feel so much better when I take it and everybody tells me I look better. My appetite improves and I feel stronger in every way. I am a very nervous woman and it seems to help my nerves so much."—Mrs. MAGGIE WALLER, Glasgow, Kentucky.

Local stock shippers have been confronted with another railroad ruling which interferes with their shipping, and that is when a stock car has been ordered and then rejected they must pay a penalty of $2.00 to the company. CALF CLUB HAS BEEN FORMED BY ROCHELLE BOYS

Ogle Co. Farm Bureau and C. of C. Sponsored the Plan.

Oregon—Ogle County farmers have shown excellent interest in the Farm Bureau activities during the past month according to the report made by Farm Advisor, D. E. Warren.

Though the condition of the roads made it impossible to make many farm visits, many profitable meetings were held in various community centers. The farmers having in many cases to come in wagons and bob sleds, felt well repaid.

Two demonstrations in orchard pruning at which a representative from the University was present, gave instruction in training young trees and, renewing old ones. Eight seed corn meetings were held and six more planned for the month of March. At these meetings the attendance was good in nearly all cases. At Polo 45 men listened and took part in the discussion on selection of seed corn for vitality and heavy, yielding type. These meetings were illustrated with motion pictures showing the effects of corn rot diseases and advocating methods of elimination.

Several farmers offered to plant test plots on their farms this year for use in demonstrating improvement made in yield by seed selection.

At a meeting with the bankers and a committee of the Chamber of Commerce at Rochelle, plans were made for starting a beef calf club. Enrollment for this club will be taken until March 15.

SPOILED TIM'S SHOES

WHEN CLARKE GRIFFITH SPIKED
HURST'S PATENT LEATH-ERS TROUBLE BEGAN TO BREW

By Billy Evans
Tim Hurst as an umpire was nothing if not original.

One of his mannerisms was wearing patent leather shoes on the ball field instead of the regulation spiked shoes.

As a matter of fact, Tim prided himself on the fact that he was always ready to step on the ball field at a moment's notice, shifting from hat to cap being the only change necessary.

Tim always referred to his cap as his uniform.

Clarke Griffith, now owner of the Washington club, was managing the New York Americans at the time. Griffith gets a laugh out of the incident now, but it was far from funny then.

Coaching at first base, Griffith decided objections to a close play that went against the Yankees. The two fairly bristled as Griffith argued with Hurst.

During the course of the heated conversation, Griffith, wearing spiked shoes, happened to step on Hurst's patent leathers. One of the shoes was badly cut, but Hurst was not aware of it.

An inning later, noticing the cut in the shoe and realizing Griffith must have done it, Hurst yelled to me to call time. I was umpiring balls and strikes, I did so.

Hurst then walked over to the New York bench, apparently to get a drink of water. When he neared Griffith, sitting on the bench, it was evident he had other intentions. He started swinging right and left.

Fortunately for Griffith, Hurst's judgment of distance was very poor and none of the blows landed. Immediately the players stepped in between the two and prevented further trouble.

The next day President Johnson suspended Tim for several days without pay. Ruining the new shoes worried Hurst more than the loss of pay.

PROFESSIONAL SALUTATIONS

The doctor, a keen golfer, was rather weary of being called "doctor" on every possible occasion, suitable or otherwise.

On the links the other day, two members hailed him as usual, "Good morning, Doc."

"Good morning, chartered accountant, Good morning, sanitary engineer," replied the doctor.—Weekly Telegraph (London).

Bring Your Friends with You

The Ladies Are Especially Invited

COME EARLY TO GET A SEAT.

If It Were YOU and YOURS?

Men and Women of ILLINOIS:

SUPPOSING that the life of your child were in immediate peril:

SUPPOSING that your property values were about to be wiped out:

SUPPOSING that your municipal investments were in jeopardy:

AND
KNOWING that Canadian power interests and their American tools were responsible:—

YOU would fight to your last breath!

You would expect—and you wouldn't have to demand—the instant cooperation of Chicago. You would have proffered to you, over night, the combined resources of Chicago, morally, financially, politically.

All Illinois Would Stand for a Square Deal

Chicago, at this minute, is up against that very proposition

CHICAGO must have 10,000 cubic feet per second from Lake Michigan to preserve the lives of upwards of 3,000,000 persons. Canadian power interests, as represented by Sir Adam Beck, cold and calculating and utterly heartless as to Chicago's health conditions, craftily maneuver to take the water allotted to Chicago by international treaty authority, for power purposes at Niagara Falls.

CHICAGO'S water supply may be cut off at any moment, unless Congress acts with speed and with an emphasis that even Sir Adam Beck can understand Congress will not act speedily unless Illinois, through its Senators and Representatives presents a solid front.

CHICAGO is expending $250,000,000 over a period of 25 years in building modern sewage disposal plants to take care of domestic sewage, stock yards and other industrial waste. This in addition to the $115,000,000 already invested. Illinois Valley claims for overflow damages are being settled as rapidly as agreements can be reached.

Chicago's defeat in this life and death struggle means—

That within 60 days after the water is cut off, the city will be drinking its own sewage. A typhoid epidemic will start that will veritably slaughter, first the defenseless children, and then the men and women.

That within one year, manufacturing industries will be moving by the wholesale to cities where the workers can live and where their families can exist.

That within five years the dominance of Chicago as the Central Market Place of the world, will have passed the peak point and values of every kind, centering economically in Chicago, will be on the decline.

These statements are cold-blooded deductions that come from engineers, railroad experts and financial authorities

Sir Adam Beck's Raid on Chicago's Water Must Be Stopped

Congress is considering the necessary legislation to preserve the rights of Chicago, Illinois and the Middle West. The time for action is the present minute. Without perfect health conditions, Chicago can no longer maintain her supremacy. Destruction of Chicago's markets means a direct loss to every farmer, every shipper, every merchant, every taxpayer, in the state of Illinois.

If YOU would do for Chicago, that which Chicago would do for YOU, write today to your Senators and Congressmen to support Chicago's request. Their names are as follows:

FORTUNE'S FOOL

BY RAFAEL SABATINI

ILLUSTRATED BY R. A. WATKINS

RECEIVED BY R. A. SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Colonel Holmes, soldier and adventurer, returned to England, his native land, when war with Holland is declared. It is dangerous for Holmes to secure a commission in the English army because the name of the colonel, father of the colonel, is on the warrant for the execution of the late king. A friend of the colonel, named Tucker, is arrested for plotting against the government. Because Holmes has been seen in Tucker's company a warrant is also out for his arrest.

His Grace of Buckingham hires Holmes to abduct the actress, Sylvia Parham. It is dark when the colonel carries her off and, when he arrives at the house rented by Buckingham, Holmes is horror-struck when he sees that Sylvia is a former sweetheart of his. Sylvia is horrified.

NOV GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Will you not realize that there is no time to lose? That if you stay here you are lost? Go alone, if you will. Return home at once. But since you must go ahead, and you must presently be pursued, suffer me at least to follow after you, to do what I can to make you safe. Trust me in this — for your own sake trust me — in God's name!"

"Trust you?" she echoed, and almost she seemed to laugh. "You? After this?"

"After this? Because of this I may be as vile as you are deeming me; not a doubt I am. But I never could have been vile to you. It may not excuse me to protest that I did not know it was against you that I was acting. But it should make you believe that I am ready to defend you now—now that I know."

This time he caught her by the wrist, and maintained his hold against her faint attempt to liberate herself. He attempted to draw her after him across the room. A moment she hung back, resisting still.

"For God's sake!" he implored her madly. "At any moment Buckingham may arrive!"

This time she yielded to a spur that earlier her passion had made her disregard. Between such evils there could be no choice. She looked into his livid gleaming face, distorted by his anguish and anxiety.

"I can trust you in this? If I trust you... you will bear me safely home? You swear it?"

"As God my witness!" he sobbed in his impatience.

There was an end to her resistance now. More she displayed a sudden urgency that matched his own.

"Quick! Quick, then!" she panted. And then, just as they reached the door, it was thrust open from within.

The Duke of Buckingham, his curled fair hair almost touching the lintel, stared before them, a flash of fevered expectancy on his handsome face. In his right hand he held his heavily feathered hat; his left rested on the pommel of the light dress rapier he was wearing.

The pair recoiled before him, and Holmes loosed her wrist upon the swift, instinctive apprehension that here she was like to need his hands for other things.

His grace was all in glittering satin, black and white like a marble, with jewels in the lace at his throat and a baudric of garter blue across his breast.

A moment he stood there at gaze, with narrowing eyes, puzzled by something odd in their attitudes, and looking from Miss Parham's pale, startled loveliness to the stiff, grim figure of her companion. Then he came slowly forward, leaving the door wide behind him.

He bowed low to the lady without speaking; as he came erect again it was to the colonel that he addressed himself.

"All should be here, I think," he said, waving a hand toward table and sideboard.

Holmes half-turned to follow the gesture, and he stood a moment as if pondering the supper equipment, glad of that moment in which to weigh the situation. Out there, in the hall, somewhere just beyond that open door, would be waiting, he knew, Buckingham's four French lackeys, who at their master's bidding would think no more of slitting his throat than of slicing the glazed onion on the sideboard yonder. His life had come suddenly to matter very much. He must go very warily.

The Duke's voice, sharp with impatience, roused him:

"Well, booby? Will you stand there all night considering?"

Holmes turned.

"All is here, under your grace's hand, I think," he said quietly.

Holmes bowed submissively. He dared not look at Nan; but he caught the sudden rasp of her breath, and without looking behind her start, and imagined the renewed horror and wide-eyed scorn in which she regarded this fresh display of cowardice.

word in private with you, safe from the inconvenient intrusion of your lackeys."

The Duke drew himself up, very stiff and stern, not a little intrigued as you conceive by all this; but quite master of himself.

"Proceed, sir," he said coldly. "Let us have the explanation of this insolence, that so we may make an end of it."

"That is soon afforded," Holmes, too, spoke quietly. "This lady, your grace, is a friend of mine, and an old friend. I did not know it until... until I had conveyed her hither. Upon discovering it, I would have escorted her hence again, and I was about to do so when your grace arrived. I have now to ask you to pledge me your word of honor that you will do nothing to prevent our peaceful departure—that you will offer no hindrance either in your own person or in that of your servants."

For a long moment, Buckingham stood considering him without moving from the spot where he stood, midway between Holmes and the girl, his shoulder to the latter. Beyond a heightening of the color about his eyes and cheekbones, he gave no sign of emotion. He even smiled, though not quite pleasantly.

"But how simple," he said, with a little laugh. Then his voice hardened. "And should I refuse to pledge my word, what does Colonel Holmes propose?"

"It will be very bad for your grace," said Holmes.

The Duke's whole manner changed. He plucked off his mask of arrogant languor.

"By God!" he ejaculated, and his voice was rasping as a file. "That is enough of this insolence, my man. You'll unlock that door at once, and go your ways, or I'll call my men to beat you to a jelly."

"It was last your grace should be tempted to such ungentle measures that I took the precaution to lock the door," Holmes was smooth as velvet.

Buckingham laughed, and, even as he laughed he whipped the light rapier from its scabbard, and flung forward in a lunge across the distance which he had measured with his very practiced swordman's eye.

It was an action swift as lightning and of a deadly precision, shrewdly calculated to take the other by surprise and transfix him before he could make a move to guard himself. But swift as it was, and practiced as was the Duke's skill, he was opposed to one as swift and practiced, one who had too often kept his life with his hands not to be schooled in every trick of rough-and-tumble. Even as the Duke drew and lunged in one movement, so, in one movement, too, Holmes drew and fell on guard to deflect that treacherous lightning-stroke.

Nan's sudden scream of fear and the clash of the two blades rang out at the same moment. The Colonel's parry followed on into the enveloping movements of a riposte that the Duke's face on the low level to which this had been brought by the lunge.

To avoid it, Buckingham was forced to make a recovery, a retreat as precipitate as the advance had been swift. Erect once more, his grace felt back, his breathing quickened a little, and for a moment the two men stood in silence, their points lowered, measuring each other with their eyes.

Then Holmes spoke.

"Your grace, this is a game in which the dice are evenly tossed against you," he said gravely. "Let me take the course I first proposed."

Buckingham uttered a sneering laugh. He had entirely mistaken the other's meaning.

"Why, your roaring captain, you pitiful Hobadil, do you think to fright me with words and antics? It is against yourself the dice are loaded. Unlock that door, and get you hence or I'll carve you into ribbons."

"Oh! And who's the roaring captain now? Who the Hobadil? Who the very butcher of a silk button?" cried Holmes, stung to anger. He would have added more, perhaps, but the Duke stemmed him.

"Enough talk!" he snapped. "The key, you rogue, or I'll skewer you where you stand."

Senate Committee is Ready for Daugherty

By Associated Press Licensed Wire
Washington, March 5.—Plans for the investigation of Attorney General Daugherty have advanced sufficiently to indicate that the special senate committee will take up first the charges of failure to press anti-trust law cases transmitted to the department of justice by the Federal Trade Commission. The anti-trust law cases which number about 50 were emphasized in the impeachment proceedings against Mr. Daugherty about a year ago.

SULPHUR SOOTHES UGLY, ITCHING SKIN

The First Application Makes Skin Cool and Comfortable

If you are suffering from eczema or some other torturing, embarrassing skin trouble you may quickly be rid of it by using Mento-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist.

This sulphur preparation, because of its germ destroying properties, seldom fails to quickly subdue itching, even of very eczema. The first application makes the skin cool and comfortable. Rash and blotches are healed right up. Rowles Mento-Sulphur is applied like any pleasant cold cream and is perfectly harmless. You can obtain a small jar from any good druggist.

YOUR WINDOW GARDEN

BY O. W. ECKLUND

Riverview Greenhouse, Sterling, Ill.

Read at Meeting of Rock River Valley Horticultural Society.

People nowadays don't seem to have the luck with house plants in our modern homes that our grandmothers did in the old-fashioned home with a wood heater and the plants on the sill or on a plant stand near the window where they had plenty of sun and were cool. The majority of living rooms of today are kept too warm for most plants to do well. Nearly all house plants love a cool temperature, about 55 degrees Fahrenheit and the temperature may go down as low as 45 degrees without injuring them. Persons visiting the greenhouses usually remark about how hot we keep them but it is not the temperature which is so high but the moisture in the atmosphere which makes it seem so hot. (Plant houses are kept at a temperature of from 50 to 55 degrees and the cut flower houses, where we raise carnations, snapdragons, celsia and spitting lilies and calceolarias have a temperature of from 48 to 50 degrees.)

Plants having hot air furnaces are the most difficult in which to grow plants because the air in the rooms is so dry. Hot water or steam is not so dry but it is best to have some open dishes of water in the room to provide a moist atmosphere, whatever kind of heating system you have. With a hot air system it is most important to keep the furnace waterpan filled not alone for the sake of your plants but for your own health and also to prevent your furniture from becoming dried out.

There are several good devices now on the market to assist in providing the necessary moisture which can be attached to your radiators. One style which seems to be especially good has a container made to fit on the back of the radiator which contains a good quantity of water. A bowl of either goldfish or some water plants set among your house plants assists in providing the necessary moisture.

Watering Plants

Right here, in connection with moisture, I think the problem of watering is appropriate. One young lady complained that her plants were not doing well. I went there and found her just watering them: giving half a teaspoon of water to two inch blooming plants when each should have had at least two cups. Most folks water their plants too often but not enough. When watering your plants, do it thoroughly; that is, so the soil gets saturated and trickles through onto the saucer, then throw the drain water away. Before watering again let the soil get dry enough to be crumbly. Just how long a time should elapse between waterings depends on the individual plant, the amount of soil it has and the atmosphere of the room. There are a couple of plants that really enjoy having their feet wet after they are brought from the greenhouses and they are the cineraria and the daisy plants of the marguerite type because they are rank growers and the pots are so full of roots when they are finished blooming plants. On the other hand, the fern is a plant which most people overwater. Certain plants, like ferns and palms need spraying to keep the leaves from becoming dusty. This can best be done by setting the plant in the bath tub or kitchen sink, holding the finger partly over the faucet and spray the plant thoroughly, leaving it there to drip dry.

In warm weather they could be set outside in the rain.

Gas is one of the worst enemies of indoor plants. Plants must breathe properly and are affected by poor ventilation and gas contains an element which is injurious and no ordinary plant can do well where gas is constantly used.

Care of Ferns

As to varieties of plants for the home and their care, I believe most ladies like ferns the best, and of all ferns, the Boston sword fern is the most popular. They do best by a north or east window where they can get light but not the direct sunshine. If ferns are planted into ferneries these should by all means, have a self-watering device which in itself is a false bottom anywhere from an inch and higher from the bottom of the fernery. Although you can have fairly good success by this method, I firmly believe that your ferns will do better if left in the pots and these set loose into the fernery as this gives a better chance for the air to circulate about the roots and also permits their being lifted out for an occasional spraying. During the five years I have been in business here, I have planted numbers of ferneries and each time the owner has asked how much water should be put in. Most self-watering ferneries hold about one-half gallon but how soon to again water depends entirely on the plants and the atmosphere of the room. A small nail hole in the side of the tin container, just above the false bottom would be an improvement as then you could tell when there was enough water in the fernery.

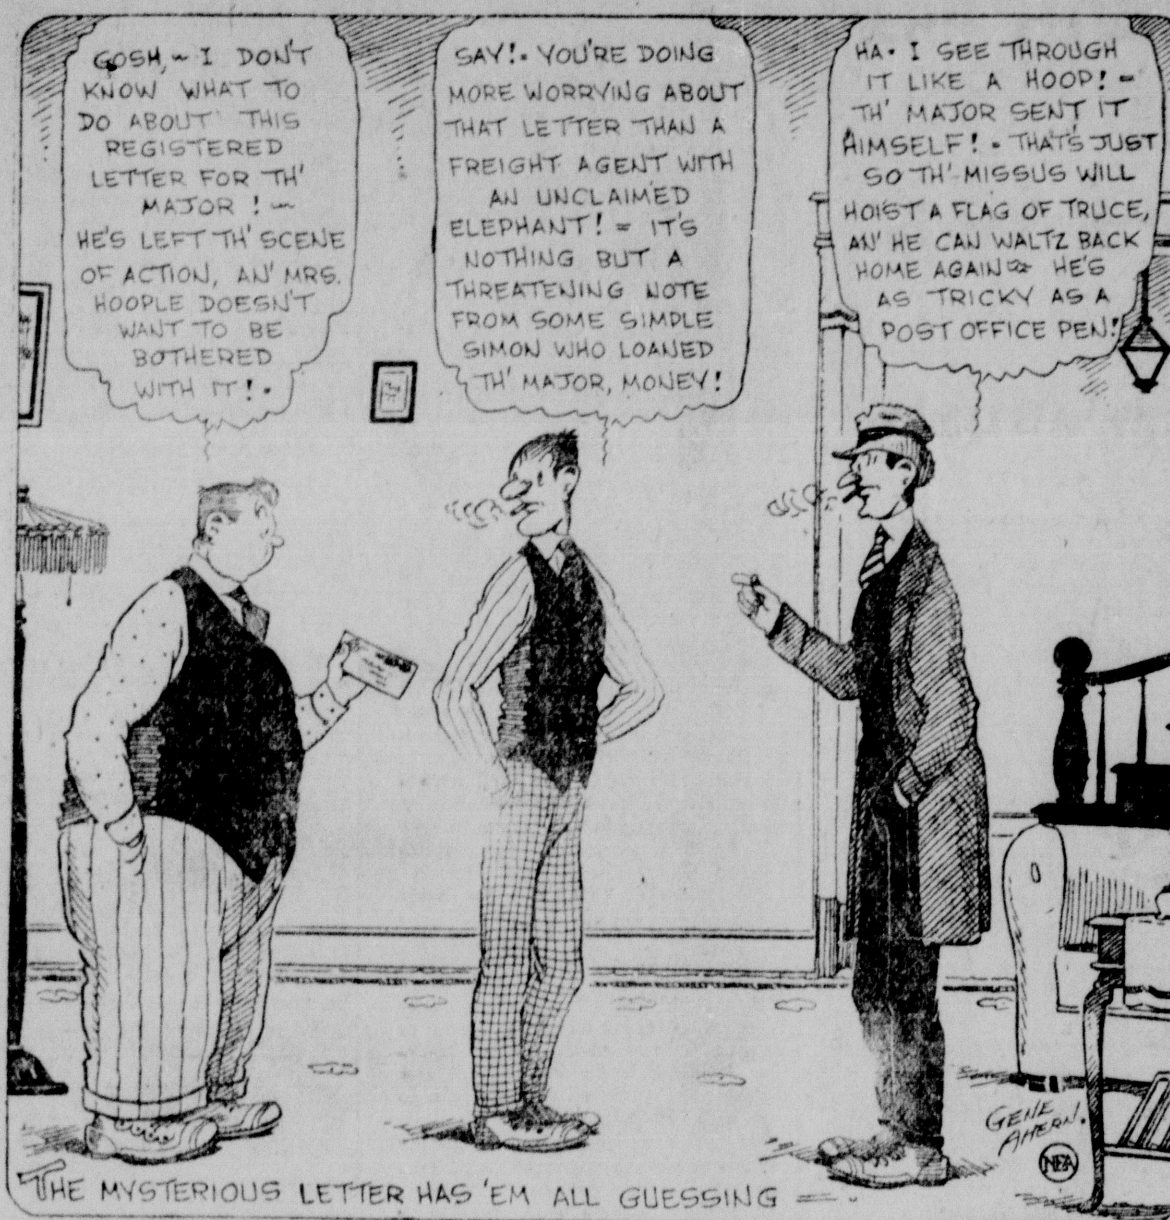

During the last few years ferns have been bothered with a very small white fly which sucks the juice out of the leaves. If this fly is left unmolested, it increases rapidly in numbers and will soon spoil the best of ferns. However, this fly is very easily kept in check by forceful spraying and rubbing off with the fingers, but this must be attended to regularly. If you will look your plants over carefully every week or so, these insect pests would not get such a big start and could soon be controlled.

Another plant which likes the light but not the sunshine is the Rex begonia, whose foliage so many admire. This begonia does best in a very moist atmosphere and unlike most other plants should never have water on its leaves. A foliage plant that will stand more abuse than any other is the Aspidistra, also called the iron plant. The variegated Screw Pine (Pandanus Vetchii) is also a very satisfactory foliage plant. The only objection to either of these plants seems to be the price because of the length of time it takes to grow a salable plant. In flowering plants we have the begonia or wax plant which is a continuous bloomer and makes a fine showing with its profusion of red or pink blooms. When these begin to grow tall or scraggly, cut them back, leaving about three side buds to each stem which will break forth and make a bushier plant. Cyclamen or Alp Violet which when given proper care and a cool place will bloom from November until during March. Primroses, of which the Obconica is the most popular are good hardy house plants and bloom well, producing flowers all winter and well on during the spring. Cactuses are very interesting, there being hundreds of varieties, but the best known here is the crab of Christmas Cactus which seldom fails to be full of blooms for Christmas. In berries plants there are several varieties of both cherries and peppers which are very attractive.

Dutch Bulbs

Dutch bulbs, such as hyacinths, tulips, jonquils and daffodils can be forced into blossom during February and later. A quarantine goes into effect in 1926 barring all these wonders of bloom producers from this country, so my advice to flower lovers is to buy to the limit of your wants during the next two years. American grown bulbs will come on the market but with the high wages paid in this country, what will they be worth? These bulbs should be planted in pots or boxes in the fall, set in a cool and dark place until they have developed a good root system and about an inch of top growth. When brought up for forcing they can be placed in a light window. After they have begun to flower, to prolong their blooming period, take them away from the strong light and place on your dining or living room table. Very few of our house plants need any special attention, what well they do need is to be used in seeing to it that the plants have a pure but moist atmosphere, proper temperature and correct watering. As to repotting, very few plants should be repotted unless the pot they are already in is very full of roots and then be careful to only shift them into a pot one or two inches larger than the one they were in as too big a shift is very harmful to most plants. If they are in need of additional fertilizer and it is not convenient or practical to repot them, as sometimes happens during the winter, then they can be carried along till warm weather by applications of some good plant food. Anyone who is interested in such a preparation can procure the name from me at the close of this program. We have tried out various fertilizers during our many years of greenhouse work but the one we now recommend is the very best we have ever found.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

Before closing I would like to say a few words about the care of cut flowers. Whenever you receive a box of cut flowers, cut just a little off the bottom of the stems, put in a vase of fresh, cold water and set in a cool place for a while. Never set a vase of flowers in a drafty place as they will soon wither. Set them back in a

Mrs. D. L. Broman entertained Monday evening in honor of her niece, Alice Ione Huntley, of Frazee, Minn. About 8 o'clock 20 of Alice's friends gathered dressed as little children, carrying their dollies and teddy bears. It was very plain to be seen that they had not grown to be such dignified young men and women that they had forgotten how to act childish. The evening was spent in games of all sorts. At a late hour a delicious two course lunch was served by the hostess after which the guests departed all wishing that those kind of times come more often.

Archbishops Not to Be Given Elevation

Rome, March 6—(By The Associated Press)—The assertion was made from an authoritative source in the Vatican today that the summons to Rome of Arch-Bishops Hayes of New York and Mundelein of Chicago was not connected with plans to raise them to cardinals.

American ecclesiastics say they have heard nothing to justify the belief that the visit of the New York and Chicago prelates means that their elevation to the purple is imminent; indeed they are inclined to think otherwise.

This is the year when many American bishops and arch-bishops are due for their visit "ad limina" which is obligatory every five years.
